San Antonio Business Journal Ranks Home Health Agencies

Access #8 in San Antonio

Ranking Based on patients served

(San Antonio) July 7, 2007 – Access Quality Therapy Services is ranked number eight in area home health agencies in terms of patients served in a list published by the San Antonio Business Journal today.

The companies were ranked according to patients served, billable hours, home visits, and number of full time employees and registered nurses on staff. All companies were required to submit information certified by their CPAs.

“This is a great honor for us, to have our company recognized like this” Melinda Rodriguez, CEO of Access Quality Therapy Services said. “Although we were ranked seventh last year; last year’s list did not contain many big players, like Interim Health Services, which is a huge company that services the University Hospital contract. Also, many large hospital systems, including smaller rehabilitation hospitals, are developing home health agencies that may leap frog us in ranking next year. Our objective has never been to focus on the volume aspect of this business so the fact that we can still focus on QUALITY care and still be listed; it’s a reaffirmation of our business model and core philosophies.”

Rodriguez continued to say that the company has had steady growth, about 12-15%, per annum since the launch of its Medicare home health model in 2004. She anticipates a slower growth rate, about 9%, throughout 2007 and into 2008 but this is normal for companies at our stage of development.
