Press Release

Access Quality Therapy Services receives the “Health Care Firm of the Year” Award. A dream and small capital investment is the perfect prescription for success.

(San Antonio, Texas)– Owners Melinda and Rob Rodriguez believe that “to be successful in running a business, you must be willing to take risks.” And that is exactly what they did 15 years ago when they co-founded their health care and rehabilitation company, Access Quality Therapy Services. This local home grown company employs 89 clinicians and office staff and has become one of the leaders in the San Antonio home health care industry.

Access Quality Therapy Services has been awarded the designation of the 2009 Minority Health Care Firm of the Year today at the Minority Enterprise Development Week Award Ceremony held at the AT&T Community Center.

Melinda, who grew up in the Phillipines and Rob, a San Antonio native, both admit that the community has been very good to them personally and in business. That is why they both feel that giving back to the community is an equally important component when measuring success of their business.

“Melinda and I truly believe that anyone who has the desire to work deserves the opportunity,” says Rob Rodriguez. We seek employees of all races and offer a work place conducive to individual employee growth. With a structured and on-going training program in place, many of our employees have broadened their knowledge and expertise in their field and have progressed to higher level positions within the company,” added Rodriguez.
